

Q&A

A guide to Understanding the Lender Processing Services (“LPS”) Spin-Off

Q: What will be the effective date of the spin-off?

A: July 2, 2008 for Fidelity National Information Services (“FIS”) shareholders of record on June 24, 2008.

Q: What will I receive as a result of the spin-off of Lender Processing Services?

A: If you are a registered Fidelity National Information Services stockholder you will automatically be mailed a statement of holdings by the Lender Processing Services transfer agent, Computershare Investor Services, LLC. You will retain all of your shares of Fidelity National Information Services that you currently own and one-half share of Lender Processing Services for each share of Fidelity National Information Services common stock that you own on the record date. No fractional shares of Lender Processing Services common stock will be issued, so Lender Processing Services shareholders will receive cash in lieu of any fractional shares.

Q: What do I do with my Fidelity National Information Services stock certificates?

A: You do not need to do anything with your stock certificates in connection with the spin-off.

Q: I hold Fidelity National Information Services certificates now. Will I get certificates in Lender Processing Services?

A: No. Lender Processing Services stockholders’ positions will be held in a book-entry form in a Direct Registration account maintained by Lender Processing Services’ transfer agent, Computershare Investor Services, LLC. Instead of issuing new stock certificates, Computershare will mail you a statement detailing your holdings in Lender Processing Services. If you maintain your shares with your broker, Lender Processing Services shares will appear on the statement that you receive from your broker.

Q: Where will Lender Processing Services shares be traded?

A: Lender Processing Services will be listed on the New York Stock Exchange under the ticker symbol “LPS”.

Q: What is the tax basis of Fidelity National Information Services and Lender Processing Services?

A: After the spin-off, you need to allocate a percentage of your tax basis between Fidelity National Information Services and Lender Processing Services common stock. A letter outlining one approach to allocating your tax basis based upon the closing price on the distribution date is available on our investor relations website. To view click here.

Q: Is there any tax on the receipt of Lender Processing Services shares?

A: For U.S. shareholders there will be no tax on the receipt of Lender Processing Services common stock. However, no fractional shares of Lender Processing Services common stock will be issued and Lender Processing Services shareholders will receive cash in lieu of any fractional shares. The cash received for a fractional share will generally be taxable. Shareholders in certain jurisdictions should contact their tax advisor regarding their tax liabilities.

Q: What will the value of Fidelity National Information Services and Lender Processing Services be after the spin-off?

A: The value of the Fidelity National Information Services shares will be adjusted based on the spin-off of the Lender Processing Services shares. Once trading begins, the marketplace will ultimately determine the value of the shares of both "FIS" and "LPS".

Q: After the spin-off, whom do I contact if I have further questions regarding my Fidelity National Information Services and Lender Processing Services shares?

A:

Computershare Investor Services, LLC
2 North LaSalle Street
Chicago, Illinois 60602
